

Information Sheet for Participants – Login System

You are being invited to participate in this study as part of a BSc project being conducted at Department of Computer Science, University College London. Please read the information sheet before beginning the experiment.

The purpose of this research is to test a login system. We are looking into how usable this login system is. We are also looking into any difficulties users may have with it, such as usability or security problems.

Participating in this study should take at most 5 minutes and involves working through a simulated phone's login system, followed by a questionnaire.

You will be asked about things such as the usability of the system as well as your age range. This experiment is completely anonymous, other than your age range, no information will be stored about you.

Anyone can participate in this study; however, you are limited to only completing this study once.

Participating in this study involves no risk or discomfort to you.

You can withdraw from the survey at any time simply by closing the browser, if you do not click the submit button at the end of the questionnaire, no data from the questionnaire will be sent.

The anonymous survey responses will be used in a BSc report, this may be shared with other researchers for the purpose of research; used in academic publications, etc.

The benefit for participation is a payment via Prolific Academic.

If you wish to raise a complaint or concern about the research, you may contact either Prof. Steven Murdoch (s.murdoch@ucl.ac.uk) or Sami Baguneid (zcabagu@ucl.ac.uk). If you feel that your complaint has not been handled to your satisfaction, you may contact the Chair of the UCL Research Ethics Committee (ethics@ucl.ac.uk).

This research project has been granted ethics approval by the Head of the Computer Science Department at UCL.

You can print or save a copy of this Information Sheet for your records.

Thank you for participating.